386 James River Turnpike offers easy access to Interstate 64, a main east-west artery. I-64 merges with Interstate 77, a main north-south artery for the state, and then splits off and continues towards Virginia in Beckley, WV. I-64 intersects with Interstate 79 in Charleston, WV, which heads northeast towards Morgantown, WV. Located in Cabell County, WV, Milton lies within the Advantage Valley, a partnership that encompasses twelve counties in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky. Providing a strategic partnership between the 12 counties' rural and metro areas, Advantage Valley includes the two Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSA) of Charleston, WV, and the Huntington-Ashland, WV-KY-OH MSA. The Advantage Valley offers a stable, skilled workforce with a labor turnover rate that is among the lowest in the nation while a wide variety of industrial and tax incentives are offered by the State of West Virginia. Major private area employers include AK Steel, Applied Card Systems, CSX Railroad, Dow Chemicals, Dupont, Marathon-Ashland Petroleum, Toyota Motor Manufacturing WV and Columbia Gas Transmission.
